ANNOUNCE TAX RATE TOMORROW

Beverly Police Chief On Trial For Shooting Couple

LOCAL TAX RATE FOR 1923 WILL BE ANNOUNCED TOMORROW MORNING, SAY ASSESSORS

Announcement Delayed to Hear Result of Finance Committee Meeting—Street Work Report—Other City Hall News

The tax rate for the year 1923 will not be announced until tomorrow morning. This statement was given out at the office of the assessors at city hall, shortly after noon today. The reason for the delay, as it was expected that the rate would be announced today, is that the assessors wish to know the result of this afternoon's meeting of the finance committee of the city council before announcing the rate.

The committee is scheduled to meet this afternoon, to discuss several loans that were recently passed by the council and approved by the mayor. There is some question as to the legality of the loans, owing to a new law recently enacted by the legislature. The loans under fire are as follows: Black paving, $30,000; incandescent, $19,000; Chelmsford street paving, $10,000; Lawrence street paving, $10,000.

SOUSA INVITES LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL BAND TO PLAY WITH HIS MUSICIANS

JOHN PHILIP SOUSA

The Lowell high school band of forty pieces has been invited by Lieut. Commander John Philip Sousa to appear and play with his band of nearly one hundred crack musicians at the high school auditorium on the afternoon of September 17. It will be an experience the boys will never forget and already they are looking forward to it with the keenest anticipation. To play under the baton of John Sousa is the height of ambition in the realm of band music and when the boys of the local school blend their instruments with those of the famous leader they will have attained something that hundreds of men of more matured years never will enjoy.

Albert Edmund Brown, who has the local management of the appearance of Sousa's band in the city on September 17, appealed to the bandmaster to make the matinee a performance for public school children. Mr. Sousa was immediately impressed with the possibilities of this educational feature and told Mr. Brown, in his name, to invite the high school band to play with his own musicians for one selection.

The school band, and each of the school band, and the boys who are to play, are most enthusiastic over this opportunity. Mr. Brown is making similar arrangements with other local bands for the evening performance at the Memorial auditorium when Sousa's band will be accompanied by 20 or 30 Lowell musicians in the presence.

"I will challenge in 1924 for the 1925 races and expect to build a boat that will lift the cup this time," declared the Irish baronet. "But whether I win or lose, I can say that I've been racing for 25 years on the British coast and I don't want to meet better sportmen than Americans. If they have made mistakes, it has always been in my favor."

"I have a cabinet of the finest cups in all England, yet I would surrender all of them if I could lift the cup which has been in this country for 70 years. I can't get it for a long period, I'd

PERSONALITY

Some of us like to remember the old Druggist, Butler, Tallor, etc., with whom we have had personal and satisfactory dealings for years; certain names bring back the remembrance of personal dealings, as many are still doing business the same way with modern methods and the same with personal standard of service.

A personal of "20 years ago" brings back the fact that Cole was furnishing enjoyable entertainments, thirty and more years ago, and we still strive to maintain the same standard of personal service in our hotel, restaurant, cafe, and soda shop.

And always strive to have each guest or customer leave our establishment satisfied as to price, quality, quantity and manner of service.

Criticism and suggestions are foundation stones in our building, a substantial good will, and we appreciate them.

SUGGEST HOLDING RADIO CONCERTS

The Associated Industries of Massachusetts, an organization numbering many Lowell firms as members, has sent out a letter to all its members inquiring as to the advisability of holding radio concerts at the broadcasting station of the American Radio and Research corporation, (WVLI) Meadford Hillside, three days a week, from Oct. 1 to April 30.

The main purpose of such concerts would be to entertain employees of firms whose rest rooms are equipped with radio apparatus at present, but in addition to these, concerts in shops not so equipped, they believe, would be willing to build their own sets if given an opportunity of listening-in to good concerts during the cold-weather months.

If a sufficient number of favorable replies are received, a contribution of $50 will be asked from the interested firms to pay the expenses of the artists giving the concerts. The cost of broadcasting the programs will be borne by the WVLI people.

Years of Suffering Passed—
Troubles Relieved by Dreo

Mrs. E. M. Church, 14 Carson Street, Lowell, Mass., says:

"I worried myself sick over my health. I grew thin and nervous. My face was sallow and cheeks sunken. Constipation had become my constant companion. I had lost my strength and energy. I couldn't get rid of it."

My sleepless nights when I lay there wishing for daylight made things worse. I couldn't eat without suffering pains from indigestion. And gastritis doubled me up in cramps.

Pains in my back and limbs made it agony for me to work. I tried many remedies and treatments hoping that I could find something that would help my condition. But all of them failed. I started taking Dreo and soon began to feel better. This great medicine drove away every sign of stomach trouble, indigestion, gave me strength, cleared my system of constipation, and made it healthy. It has made a new person of me. And I hope that everyone will benefit by its wonderful restorative powers."

Beverly Police Chief on Trial

Beverly, Judge Sumner D. York of Gloucester is hearing the case. Assistant District Attorney Frank Raymond is prosecuting and Attorney John P. Feeney appears for Hayes. Thirteen witnesses were sworn.

The feature of the evidence was the testimony of Dr. Charles D. S. Lovell of Lynn, who has attended Miss Spinney since the shooting, that the bullet which struck Winston first in the knee and then entered Miss Spinney's body, lodged in the chest cavity about an inch from the heart, and also missed the spinal column by an inch. In the opinion of the doctor the bullet did not hit the ground first, as claimed by Chief Hayes, for it showed "no flattened nose" and did not make a ragged wound, as would have been the case had it been fired into the ground and then rebounded.

The shooting occurred as a part of the order of Chief Hayes to the driver of the automobile in which the young couple were riding, to stop at 1 o'clock in the morning. Miss Spinney testified that after a dance at Swampscott the party rode to Lakeside Inn in Hamilton, from where they were on their way home, when the shooting occurred. Frank Bonis of Lynn, the driver, some weeks ago was convicted of reckless driving and refusing to stop when signalled by the officer.

SAVE CHILDREN'S TEETH

U. S. Health Service Tells Why Molars Are Lost Forever

"Tell the people!" That is what Dr. Mustard, health officer of Preston county, W. Va., wants to do. Recently, the Preston county department of health announced that the children of the county were short on six-year immunizations, and the editor of the Preston County Journal dropped around to the health officer to find out what a six-year-old was. This is how he tells the story.

"The six-year molars," he said, "are the first permanent teeth a child gets. You, like most parents, and some dentists, probably think that 'first' applies only to the first milk tooth. This is incorrect.

"Look at this direction," said the dentist, "and count backward. The first five teeth are temporary; the sixth is the first of the permanent teeth. It is called the sixth-year molar because it comes in about six years of age. Note that there are four of them."

Two just above them in the upper jaw.

"Didn't know that teeth were permanent did you? Lots of people don't. Persons who don't know, think it is a temporary tooth and a baby decay. But it isn't temporary. It has to take the place of other teeth when they take its place. When it goes, it goes forever."

"Well," we asked, "is it any stronger than the temporary tooth and last longer?"

"It may or it may not," answered the doctor. "It's a baby tooth, but its upper surface has a lot of hooks, or ridges, which help decay arrest. The tooth is kept clean and healthy. The child is happy and content."

"Temporarily," we asked.

"Temporarily," replied the doctor, "children can't grow as they should unless they are properly fed. Their bones, including their teeth, will be chalky, and chalky teeth decay quickly. Moreover, six-year molars come just when the temporary teeth are decaying. But in teeth spreads like rot in a barrel of apples; and the molars, particularly if they are chalky, stand no more chance in a month full of rotting teeth than a snowball in July."

"Some of them are allowed to decay along with the temporary teeth and are pulled by parents or other affectionate neighbors because they are only milk teeth," Dr. Mustard was wailing indignantly.

We were indignant, too. "How can we help?" we asked. "The public ought to know about this; and we want to do our share."

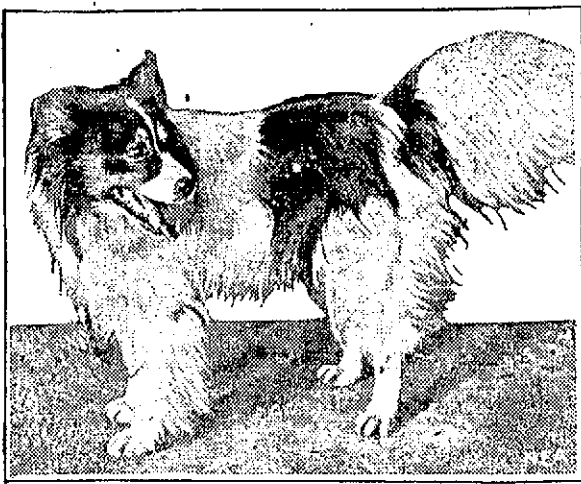

"Use your paper," cried the doctor, enthusiastically. "Tell 'em once, tell 'em twice, tell 'em over and over again. Tell each mother to examine her child's mouth and count back to the sixth tooth. Tell 'em if it's decayed to hurry that child to the dentist. Tell 'em that once gone a six-year molar is gone forever, and that these molars are all as important to the mouth as a key stone is to an arch. Tell 'em not to allow six-year molars to be pulled even if they are decayed, unless the dentist insists and to be mighty sure that he is a real dentist."

"So we're tellin' them—that if you

CHURCH CARNIVAL WAS BIG SUCCESS

The carnival organized for the benefit of St. Catherine's church in Graniteville which opened Friday afternoon at Cameron park, Graniteville, was brought to a close Saturday evening. The affair, which was conducted under the auspices of a committee composed of residents of Graniteville and Forge Village, was a big success in every way and those in charge are most grateful to all who helped to carry out the event successfully.

The park was converted into a veritable midway and the many booths and sales tables, where good things to eat and drink as well as fancy articles were on sale, reported a thriving business. In the course of the two days a varied program was carried out and Saturday evening a baked bean supper was served on the grounds. The arrangements for the affair were under the personal supervision of the pastor, Rev. A. S. Malone and the committee were as follows: Mrs. Elizabeth Harrington and Mrs. Catherine Daley, assisted by Miss Catherine Hanley, treasurer; John McNiff, Secy., and Fred Dole, sports; Charles E. Dole, Fred Fitzpatrick, George Bruland and George Stewart, booths; William Kelly and James Delaney, tickets. These were assisted by a large corps of the parish members.

ENGINE HAULING TRAIN BLOWS UP

Boiler of Locomotive Explodes Near Walpole, Hurling Itself 150 Feet

Engineer and Fireman Blown Into River and Seriously Injured—Others Hurt

WALPOLE, Aug. 20.—One of the most amazing accidents in the history of American railroading occurred here yesterday afternoon when the boiler of the locomotive drawing a Providence to Boston passenger train on the New Haven road at Walpole Heights exploded, hurling itself 150 feet into a field, blowing the engineer and fireman into the Neponset river, the wrecked engine frame and wheels together with the cars rolling on for two train lengths and coming to a stop as though nothing had happened.

The engineer, James E. Henry of Franklin, and fireman William P. Hanley of Dorchester were critically injured. Only two passengers were injured by being shaken up. They were Miss Anita Whalley of Hyde Park and Mrs. Fred Griffin of Boston.

The others were merely stunned by the concussion of the terrific blast that shook the surrounding territory for miles. A number of children who were bathing in the river close to the railroad were slightly burned by the deluge of flying coals and boiling water. Some of them ran screaming from the scene without stopping to pick up their clothing.

The explosion occurred at 5.45, just as the locomotive had crossed the bridge over the river on the Wrentham branch and was slowing down for the lights station. Suddenly without warning, as the wheels of the train were clicking over the rails and the air brakes were beginning to take hold, there was a terrific roar followed by a shock that shook train and ground with the apparent force of an earthquake. Instantly both coals and boilers were hidden in a heavy cloud of ashes and steam.

Persons in the vicinity of the roadbed had a fleeting glimpse of the big locomotive boiler shooting straight up into the air like a giant mortar shell leaving a trail of soot and steam behind in its wake for 150 feet and, after turning, plunging head downward from the right of way with a terrific thud. Several times the boiler bounced over and came to a stop. The frame of the locomotive with its crivier wheels, dashing in the sunlight, and the three heavy cars rolled on off the tracks, finally coming to a stop nearly a quarter of a mile further on.

The train had stopped before the passengers and crew seemed to realize that something had happened. Passengers became panic-stricken. Women screamed and men made a mad rush for the doors of the cars. Conductor Rosario J. Goulet and members of the crew rushed among them and did much to prevent many from being injured in the scramble to get out.

Once on the roadbed they were joined by rescuers, who attracted by the blast and the emergency calls of the telephone operators began arriving by the hundreds. Among them were several physicians who had been summoned in the belief that many had been injured. They aided greatly in calming the hysterical women passengers.

Engineer Henry was found floating about in the river a short distance away from the tracks. Fireman Hanley was found nearby. Both were apparently severely injured. They were hurried into the first ambulance that arrived, where both their names were placed on the "dance card" list. Miss Whalley and Mrs. Griffin, who were shaken up and dazed, after being attended by physicians, were sent to their homes. The former also had an injury to one of her knees and Mrs. Griffin complained of an injury to her head. The other passengers were taken to Providence by the regular 5.15 train from Walpole that looked to the lights station and took them on board.

A wrecking crew of the New Haven soon arrived and took the wrecked locomotive and cars in tow. An investigation of the explosion was also immediately started by the New Haven officials. Railroad men of many years' standing viewed the wrecked locomotive and said they had never seen anything like it in their lives. That the whole train was not wrecked with an appalling loss of life they considered a marvelous occurrence. The boiler of the locomotive and cab had been lifted off as if by a giant crane.

CONFESSES PLOT TO KIDNAP BERGDOLL

BERG, German, Aug. 20.—(By the Associated Press) The news that a Southern German, who was a member of the American draft evasion unit, had made a confession, according to the newspapers, is a complete surprise in every detail, going back for 10 years to Paris, where it is alleged the plot was hatched. The confessor is credited by the newspapers with the statement that he and Carl Schmidt, killed in last week's attack, were to be paid their share of the money even before Bergdoll was taken into custody. The papers also stated that the confessor was on the account that the confessor was a member of the American draft evasion unit, who was arrested after the alleged kidnapping attempt, had made a confession in his possession when he was taken into custody.

Among the letters found in Griffith's pockets, according to the newspapers, was one from the Columbia, Ohio, branch of the American Legion, written April 25 of this year, about the time Griffith went to Paris. In this letter, the papers assert, the confessor wrote Griffith luck and success in his enterprise. They connect this letter with the Bergdoll affair, charging it was on a Bergdoll kidnapping mission that Griffith went to Paris.

It is declared that a list of American army officers was found in Griffith's baggage and the newspapers say that Griffith told the police these officers were the more or less interested in the Bergdoll case.

Generally the newspapers in southern Germany are coming out strongly in defense of Bergdoll, who, they contend, has been hounded for the last three or four weeks and "persecuted beyond reason." In the last incident, one of the papers says, Baden's sovereign rights were disregarded.

Young Of Giants Wins Game With Home Run In Twelfth Inning

ABBOT WORSTED AND LOWELL C. M. A. C. GET GAME EACH AT TEXTILE FIELD

The two types of baseball fans—those who like lots of hitting and those who like to feel the tenseness of a pitcher's battle—were treated alike at Textile field Saturday afternoon in the double-header which the Abbot Worsted and Lowell C. M. A. C. teams divided. Incidentally, the defeat of Abbot Worsted in the second game killed their chances of the pennant.

The first contest was the slugging match, 32 hits being pounded out by both teams for a total of 35 bases. In contrast to this exhibition, 621 11 hits were registered in the second contest. The Abbot Worsted hole fattered up at the expense of Bill Tyler in the initial match to the tune of 21 hits, whereas they could do much with Rollins in the repeat and registered only four runs.

There was a crowd of more than 200 at the game and the fans got their money's worth. They saw all kinds of baseball shown, word to the extreme at times, and then again brilliant. The folding in the two games also was of marked contrast. Eleven errors were chalked up in the first, but in the second contest the tightness of the pitching seemed to have its effect on the boys and both sides played perfect fielding games.

Abbot Worsted tried hard to hand the first comedy of errors to the C. M. A. C. boys, but the latter slugs wouldn't have it that way. The game saw-sawed back and forth and the fans were kept wildly excited.

It began to look like a run-away for the pennant contenders when they started right off by connecting for five hits in the first inning which netted them five runs. Now five runs is a big handicap for any team to overcome, but the Abbot must have become over-confident when they took the field. The infielders couldn't hold onto the ball and easy chances were fumbled in schoolboy fashion. There were five sac batted with three strikes, and when finally the third man was retired, it was found that C. M. A. C. had come into the lead by three runs.

Had Bill Tyler been relieved of further mound duty after the first inning the result might have been different. For Bill's offerings were no puzzle to the sluggers on the Abbot team. They just dotted on everything he served up to them.

The Abbot, with three runs in the hole, started getting them back again in the second when they added one, and in the third and fourth they added five more so that the score at the end of the fourth inning read 11 to 8. In the fifth, C. M. A. C. managed to tally one.

That was all until the seventh when the C. M. A. C. sluggers found themselves and with three passes to first as an aid they scored five runs. This put them in the lead, 14 to 11. Not to be outdone the Abbot came in to bat and began another attack with their bats against Bill Tyler's slugs. Four runs were scored, putting them in the lead again by one. This margin the C. M. A. C. boys managed to get back in the final half and the game was even.

The winning run came in the extra frame, on a pass, a sacrifice and a single, scored by Daley. While he was trying to field J. Murphy's run, the winning run crossed the plate. The score:

NORTH CAMBRIDGE TEAM TRIMS SILESANS

Before a crowd of nearly 5000 fans at North Chelmsford, yesterday afternoon, the North Cambridge team, leaders of the Boston Twilight League, played a 3 to 1 defeat on the Silesians. Although neither of the teams credited to the visitors could be placed as earned, they deserved to win as they played heads on baseball during the game's progress and showed a superiority in team-play that caused the spectators to marvel. It was last work on the bases, played with brilliant head work that enabled the Cantabs to come through with a close victory.

One of the best and most interesting games of the season.

Meridian, the Boston college ace, was on the rubber for the visitors and justified the assertions of Boston as to his ability. He struck a hard ball, a home run, which the Silesians, however, if the facts had received the support that his opponent did, the story of the game might be told from a more favorable angle as far as the North Chelmsford aggregation is concerned. Silesians' fielding was simply erratic at times, while their work on the bases was discouraging, to say the least.

Left Fielder Quinn of North Cambridge, was the leading star of the match. On three occasions, he scored in deep left and grabbed down flies that looked good for extra runs. Quinn was all over the lot and his work evoked much commendation. Gate and Gautreaux, at short and second base, respectively, worked with the machine-like precision for which they are justly famous and impressed as dangerous in manipulating double plays.

One of the longest hit of the fray, a mighty triple to deep center, for a player of his small stature, he made a miffing strike-timer. Frank (Hillman) and in right field passed the way for the first Cantab tally. After two men had been disposed of, Jay O'Connor slugged one on the ground at Ray Reynolds. The throw to first was bad and the runner was safe. Gate then connected with a long fly to right which Gillman dropped after a short run, O'Connor scoring all the way from first to the bubble.

Silesians tied it up in the second. Jay Taylor tied off with a scorching double, and advanced to third on a sacrifice bunt by Allen. Henry Sullivan tapped a fly to center and dug himself home. Thereafter there was no scoring until the final inning, when the University boys sewed up the contest with a lonesome but important counter. Greenblatt fanned for a moment and walked Foley and Gate. With two away, Foley shot one at Daley for a bad ball, and Foley registered with the winning run.

In the last half of the ninth, catcher (Stoephor) Sullivan of North Cambridge, gave the fans an exciting play of strategy, throwing a wild ball beyond the second for the last out of the pastime. The score:

HOT RACE IN CITY LEAGUE

Bellevues and Americans in Close Fight for Pennant With Two Weeks to Go

Four Games This Week—Bellevues and Independents Meet on Common Tonight

CITY TWILIGHT LEAGUE STANDING

GAME TONIGHT
Independents vs. Bellevues.

The sixth week of the City Twilight League opens on the South common tonight with the league leading Bellevues meeting the Independents at 6 o'clock.

Tonight's game, as well as all the remaining contests on the league schedule, is of considerable importance. A victory for the Bellevues means a two-game lead in the pennant fight.

A reverse means that the Bellevues will vacate the top rung in favor of the Americans, while such an outcome would also move the Independents into the lead.

On Tuesday night the Americans and the Bellevues, who battled to an 8 to 5 tie in an attempt to settle their differences, the most exciting of the season.

There is considerable rivalry between the clubs. They have met three times, each one taking a victory.

On Thursday the Bellevues will play their last scheduled game, meeting the Independents.

The league season will close next week with two games scheduled. The Independents and Americans will meet on the common on Friday night, August 31.

With the exception of Ray Reynolds, the Silesians' shortstop, the North Chelmsford crew seemed to have lost the pep that has characterized past performances and the team went down to defeat indignantly. The game was attended by a large crowd of Lawrencians and much money.

MAINE TEAMS WELCOME OLD-TIME LEAGUERS

By N. E. A. Service
PORTLAND, Me., Aug. 20.—Their names were hazy on the diamond just a few years back. All the fans acclaimed them. And the sport editors heralded them widely.

They were big league stars then. But they finally got the best of them. And they drifted out of sight. Now the world practically has forgotten them.

Returns After Six Years
Yet they're still playing ball. They can't resist the lure of the old game.

Take, for instance, Harry D. Lord, for years captain and star third sacker of the Boston and Chicago American leagues. After leaving the majors he managed the Buffalo team in the Federal league. Then he returned to Portland and entered the grocery business.

For several seasons he piloted the Lowell (Mass.) outfit in the New England league. Then he captured the Portland Pirates. In 1917 he quit baseball but this season his friends up in Lowell, Me., prevailed upon him to take over the reins there.

He's really concentrated. At first he stayed on the bench. But he couldn't stand being idle when the fray was getting hot. He returned to his old position as third. Now he's holding in great fashion, and clearing the pile for better than a 350 average.

There's Jack Combs, the "Old Time" player. Formerly one of the "Big Four" of the Athletics, Combs' career in the majors was brilliant. He's now a coach at the Portland Pirates. He's been a coach at the Portland Pirates. He's been a coach at the Portland Pirates.

Sailboat Crosses Pacific in 11 Days, Smashing Record That Stood 17 Years

By N. E. A. Service
HONOLULU, Aug. 20.—Crossing the Pacific in a sailboat in 11 days, 15 hours and 17 minutes, it must be admitted, but these intrepid yachtsmen from San Francisco have just accomplished it. When the sturdy schooner Mariner shot across the finish line off Diamond Head, a record of 17 years standing went by the board.

The Mariner, built in 1906 by the Trans-Pacific Yacht Club, is a 30-foot schooner. Its actual time from Santa Barbara, Calif., here was just 11 days, 15 hours and 17 minutes.

The old mark, set in 1906 by the Lochinvar, was 12 days, 7 hours and 39 minutes.

In command of the Mariner was Captain L. A. Norris, an engineer by profession—a yachtsman by inclination. He owns still another speedy craft, the Shawnee. Both his boats are registered at the San Francisco Yacht Club.

With the skipper were James Wyatt, youthful sailor, and Francis B. "Drydock" Smith, veteran of many a stiff duck.

The Mariner is of the Gloucester type. She was built at Essex, Mass., but a year ago. She is 196 feet long over all, with a sail spread of 5900 square feet.

Two of the three prizes offered in the race went to her.

FOLKSTONE, England, Aug. 20.—Miss Zetta Hills, the British woman who three years ago nearly succeeded in crossing the English channel on a water cycle, this morning began an attempt to swim to the French side. At the end of the first hour she was six miles out. The sea was smooth.

TENNIS STARS MEET AT BROOKLINE

BROOKLINE, Aug. 20.—One of the greatest gatherings of lawn tennis experts in history is assembled here today to begin the annual tournament for the national doubles honors. Eight of the nation's "first ten" will take part as will members of the Davis cup teams of Australia and France, while strength, as well as uncertainty, is added to the field by the presence of such foreign stars as Alvaro Alonso of Spain and Brian L. G. Norton of South Africa, as well as a number of younger American players who have won much in the limelight this season.

Among the 36 first round matches scheduled chief interest is expected to center about the performances of the Kluge brothers, Robert and Howard, of San Francisco, now ranked as first in the United States; William T. Tilden and of Philadelphia, paired with Norman, William M. Johnston and Clarence J. Griffin of San Francisco, who are favored by many to win the title; and the Australian combination of James O. Anderson and John B. Hawkes.

HAD PLEASANT VACATION
Mr. and Mrs. James S. Williams and son James have returned from a vacation spent in the Adirondacks. Mr. and Mrs. Williams were the guests of Mr. Williams' brother, Robert S. Williams, who owns a general store in the town of Trenton, N. Y. Mr. Williams also made stops in Utica and New York and he says the thrills that impressed him most were Utica's traffic and the way it handles traffic. Mrs. Annie (old) and daughter Ruth accompanied Mr. Williams on his journey through New York state.

Beautiful Shopgirl Does Movie Cinderella Act

MARGARET LEAHY

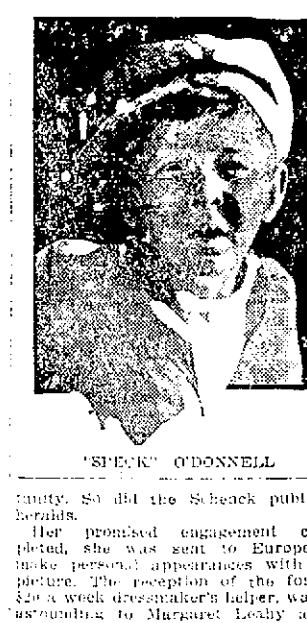

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—Hollywood, wedding its cue of romance, put the "Reverse English" on Margaret Leahy when it sent her back to London after a single appearance in pictures here.

Many a maid entering movies under as favorable auspices as this British beauty contest winner is quickly forgotten at an oblique angle to former obscurity.

Miss Leahy, who made her celluloid debut in Duster Keaton's "Three Ages," not only returned triumphantly to the city of her recent shoppings, but soon to be featured in English productions, will rebound to our shores, via the film, as a competitor of Hollywood's stock beauties.

Less than a year ago Norma Talmadge, then abroad, elected to bring back with her for a role in a Joseph M. Schenck production the attractive unknown dressmaker's employee who had gained brief contest glory. Today she is reported the idol of London, enjoying royal patronage and facing a career which, thanks to movie magic, presents no caste obstacles in the society tight little isle.

Here is a real Cinderella adventure. When Miss Talmadge found her unloved to the contemplated role in "Within the Law," she was fitted into Keaton's "Three Ages" as his leading lady. She has relinquished beauty in the blue-eyed blond sense, and many more beautiful girls, and many more talented actresses have heeded Hollywood in vain. However, Miss Leahy, completely unspoiled to the green, made the most of her opportunity.

'SPECK' O'DONNELL

And, as for the Schenck publicity horrids. Her promised engagement completed, she was sent to Europe to make personal appearances with the picture. The reception of the former live-a-week dressmaker's helper, was as surprising to Margaret Leahy as it was to her former associates. Theater audiences acclaimed her. On the voyage over she had been cited, and her every move recorded by the British press. Exclusive clubs and social circles extended invitations. Restaurant crowds gave her ovation. Many English cities vied for her presence.

And, as for honor, the king and queen of England commended her attendance at Buckingham palace showing of the picture, followed by personal appearance before the president of France and the American ambassador in Paris.

Cinderella—the obscure little maid dubbed for fame by Hollywood's magic wand, a gesture more potent than knightly touch of a king's favor.

London's Standard says comedy is the essence of the career and is as old as the original version. "Falls and chances," she asserts, "are the essentials of comedy—and since time was, atom has pursued atom and particles of matter have been falling in the eternal pursuit."

"Speck" O'Donnell, one of Warner Brothers' kid actors, will never believe another movie director as long as he lives. William Blandin, promised to substitute sugar water for the genuine article in a casket all close-up in a Wesley Barry feature. Blandin, for his part, and "Speck" pantomimed to perfection.

Paul, where art thou? For three weeks Edward Glyn has been advertising in Chicago papers for "the handsome, refined, curly-headed young Englishman" she saw at Dearborn station on her way to Hollywood. She wants him to play "Paul" in the film version of her "Three Weeks." Can it be that "the handsome young Englishman" didn't read the book?

BOYS MAY HAVE SET LAWRENCE BLAZE

LAWRENCE, Aug. 20.—Following an all-day investigation of the spectacular conflagration which Saturday afternoon razed the large wooden warehouse on B and M court here, owned by the Boston and Maine railroad, and resulted also in the practical demolition of several other wooden structures, Chief Frank J. Morris of the local fire department announced last night, that while some slight clues had been gathered, it is impossible as yet definitely to state just what had caused the fire.

The investigators are working on the theory that the blaze may have resulted from any one of three causes, namely a spark from a passing locomotive, fire smoking in the warehouse, or from having been set by mischievous boys.

The chief says that he has secured the name of a man who saw some small boys run from the vicinity of the warehouse just before the alarm sounded, and heard one of the boys cry, "Ring the alarm," while another answered, "I didn't set the fire." This man was out of town yesterday, but he will be summoned to fire headquarters today and questioned.

ENGINE MADE QUICK TRIP TO LAWRENCE

The fire fighting force of Engine 7 of this city made a flying trip to Lawrence in about 19 minutes Saturday afternoon in answer to a call for help to assist the Lawrence fire department battle a $150,000 blaze in the vicinity of the Boston & Maine depot.

A general alarm was sounded, summoning every available piece of apparatus in Lawrence, and because of the seriousness of the blaze both were asked from rest of town for help. Engine 7's men and apparatus were sent to the central fire station, there to answer any other alarms.

The fire broke out in the warehouse of the Continental Products Co., a building two stories high and 150x300 feet. This was completely destroyed, as were also two freight cars and two barns. The depot and three churches were threatened by the flames, and the firemen, in the darkness, were dismissed, but the firemen prevented the fire from reaching them.

AUTO CLIMBS TREE, LEAPS TO ANOTHER

VINEYARD HAVEN, Aug. 20.—One of the queerest of motor accidents took place on the state highway, West Salisbury, when a small car of the bug type struck an oak tree, bent it to an angle of 45 degrees, shinned up the entire height of the tree and made a perfect catapult curve landing in the middle of another tree 20 feet away. A branch of this tree turned the car over and it fell to the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Richards, who were in the car, with spilled into the brush, but were not seriously hurt. The police could hardly credit the story of what happened, but the scraped bark and bent tree were mute witnesses.

PRE-WEDDING RECEPTION

The home of the Misses Gladys and Helen Hogan was the scene of a very pleasant gathering Friday evening when over 50 friends of Miss Lavina Taylor gathered to give her a royal send-off in honor of her forthcoming marriage to Mr. William A. Holt. On entering she was greeted with the shower of rose petals amid shouts of "shower." Seated beneath a bell of confetti she opened her various gifts. One of the features of the evening was a mock marriage in which Miss Catherine Mitchell acted as bride, Miss Fabienne Teller as groom, Miss Helen Regan as bridesmaid and Miss Helen

FOUR MEN AND WOMAN KILLED IN PLANE PLUNGE

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 20.—Four men and one woman were killed instantly at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning when a commercial seaplane piloted by Albert J. Whitted of St. Petersburg, Fla., crashed into Santa Rosa sound near Cape Walton, 40 miles from Pensacola.

W. E. King, of St. Petersburg, mechanic for Whitted, who did not go up in the plane, first reached the wreckage in a speed boat. The woman's body was the only one afloat. It was necessary for the mechanic to dive beneath the debris to disentangle the bodies of the four men. All five bodies were brought to Pensacola late yesterday afternoon by boat.

The dead: Mrs. Hubert H. Harper, about 25, wife of a Birmingham, Ala., newspaperman.

Albert J. Whitted, 30, former naval aviator, St. Petersburg, Fla.

Frazier Patterson, 15, son of a Pensacola lumberman.

Hugh D. Brown, Sylvauga, Ala.

RADIO CONCERTS

The Associated Industries of Massachusetts, an organization numbering many Lowell firms as members, have sent out a letter to all its members inquiring as to the advisability of holding radio concerts at the broadcasting station of the American Radio and Research corporation, (WOL), Medford Hillside, three days a week, from Oct. 1 to April 30.

The main purpose of such concerts would be to entertain employees of firms whose post rooms are equipped with radio apparatus at present, but in addition to these, employees in shops not so equipped, they believe, would be willing to build their own sets if given an opportunity of listening in to good concert during the cold-weather months.

If a sufficient number of favorable replies are received, a contribution of $10 will be asked from the interested firms to pay the expenses of the artists giving the concerts. The cost of broadcasting the program will be borne by the WOL people.

GASOLINE SELLS AT THREE PRICES IN CITY

AMHERST, N. Y., Aug. 20.—Gasoline sold at three prices here today at the beginning of the second week of the gasoline war.

The Standard still maintained its price of 16 cents, while the National Petroleum Co. made a price of 15 cents for its product. Most of the other independent tank car dealers' price agreed to by Governor McNulty.

Monmouth, the stations of all companies report nearly twice their normal sales.

BAY STATE MAYORS MEET

Assemble in Boston to Discuss Coal Situation and Gasoline Prices

BOSTON, Aug. 20.—Mayors of many Massachusetts cities came here today at the request of Mayor Curley for a conference this afternoon on the coal situation. At his call for the meeting Mayor Curley suggested concerted action by the various municipalities to import large quantities of Welsh anthracite, which has been brought into this part in moderate amounts since the beginning of the coal shortage last year.

At the mayor's office it was said that the mayors also would discuss gasoline prices.

Beverly Police Chief on Trial

Beverly, Judge Sumner D. York of Gloucester is hearing the case. Assistant District Attorney Frank Raymond is prosecuting and Attorney John P. Feeney appears for Hayes. Thirteen witnesses were sworn.

The feature of the evidence was the testimony of Mr. Charles D. S. Lovell of Lynn, who has attended Miss Spinney since the shooting, that the bullet which struck Winston first in the knee and then entered Miss Spinney's body, lodged in the chest cavity about an inch from the heart, and also missed the spinal column by an inch. In the opinion of the doctor the bullet did not hit the ground first, as claimed by Chief Hayes, for it showed "no flattened nose" and did not make a ragged wound, as would have been the case had it been fired into the ground and then rebounded.

The shooting occurred as a part of the order of Chief Hayes to the driver of the automobile in which the young couple were riding, to stop at 1 o'clock in the morning. Miss Spinney testified that after a dance at Swampscott the party rode to Lakeroll Inn in Hamilton, from where they were on their way home when the shooting occurred. Frank Denis of Lynn, the driver, some weeks ago was convicted of reckless driving and refusing to stop when signalled by the officer.

WIVES OF FULLER AND MCGEE HELP

Broadway Musical Comedy
Belles Aid in Getting Evidence Against Husbands

Believe That by Helping to Clear Up Case They Will
Lighten Punishment

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Louise B. Groody McGee and Florence Ely Fuller, Broadway musical comedy belles, were revealed by United States Attorney Hayward today as his most active agents in running down evidence against their husbands, Edward M. Fuller and W. Frank McGee, principals in the most sensational of current bucket shop prosecutions.

"They are gathering information, furnishing testimony and producing witnesses that are invaluable to the government's case," said Mr. Hayward. "They are unquestionably doing it out of loyalty to their husbands. They believe that by helping to clear up this whole mess they will be lightening the punishment that faces their husbands, even though they seem to be incriminating them."

Mr. Hayward does not expect to have the bucket-shop wives before the grand jury. He predicted, however, that they would figure prominently at the trials of "certain higher ups" reported to have been involved in confessions of Fuller and McGee.

The three suspects were caught in the act of flogging two Negroes. Two automobiles found near the scene of the flogging contained masks, a small sledge hammer and a piece of heavy felt, apparently a gag. The three men gave their names as S. R., C. F. and J. C. Hudson, brothers, residents of East Macon. They refused to talk.

GYPSY MOTH MOVING TO WESTERN PART OF STATE

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Aug. 20.—The loss of eastern Massachusetts is the gain of western Massachusetts, and in this case the loss is a good one and the gain is a poor one.

The dread gypsy moth, long a scourge in the eastern Massachusetts section, is vanishing and is moving out toward the western part of the state where in Berkshire county it is raising havoc. This fact was brought out at the conference at the state house over the gypsy moth which was conducted by the federal horticultural board, Dr. C. P. Marlatt presiding. Many Washington officials as well as representatives of all the New England states, New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania attended.

The disappearance of the gypsy moth from eastern Massachusetts must be credited to the parasites which were imported here to help its suppression. Dr. Arthur W. Gilbert, Massachusetts commissioner of agriculture, says that the parasites have become acclimated and are now getting in their deadly work. Mention was made by Dr. Gilbert of a group of oaks, formerly badly defoliated this year. Never was the outlook so good as it is at the present time.

The spreading of the gypsy moth from the Atlantic coast line to Berkshire county is attributed to the automobile. The moths and caterpillars fasten on the machines and their jockeying takes them far afield. Across the state line from western Massachusetts in New York there is a lively fight in progress to check the spread of the gypsy in New York. Large sums have been appropriated. As the Hudson river valley has few trees, the state proposed to make a desperate stand and try to stop the invasion there.

Below is a tentative draft of federal quarantine regulations proposed for enforcement in New England.

1. No nursery will be open to federal certification for interstate shipment of its products unless it can present a valid state certificate indicating that the nursery has been inspected by a state nursery inspector and is certified by him to be free from infestation with gypsy and brown-tail moths. It is further understood that such state certification is to be based on inspection made each year subsequent to the egg laying period of the gypsy moth and it is to be valid only until the following hatching period. Federal certification of shipments during intervening larval and adult period of the gypsy moth will be withheld unless the federal inspector shall determine with respect to any nursery that the surrounding conditions are so freedom from infestation are believed to be such as to prevent no risk from wind or other spread of larvae or moth during the period.

2. If the stock of any nursery firm is found infested with either the gypsy or brown-tail moth when examined for certification by a federal inspector, federal certification will be refused for the shipping season concerned, including both fall and spring shipments.

Another gratifying incident to the outlook is that the brown-tail moth, which was once as destructive as the gypsy in its area and whose poisonous hairs caused intolerable itching, has disappeared even more thoroughly than the gypsy, probably from the same cause.

VAINEST BIRD

LONDON, Aug. 20.—At Kew Gardens there is a bird that must be the vainest bird alive. It asks to be photographed.

If it sees a camera it poses as if to make itself an attractive "subject." It has been known to stare at a camera and follow the owner of it until the camera has been duly "snapped."

Then it contentedly toddles away.

Meredith Sues Sen. Brookhart

statement to the Associated Press today.

Senator Brookhart's charge, made in an address at Radcliffe, Jan. last Wednesday, Mr. Meredith said, "involved my integrity and honor and was without basis in fact."

"But few people give any credence to Brookhart's statements," Mr. Meredith declared. "And while the damage of his statements might be more, I estimate his effectiveness at about 30 cents, so I have instructed my attorneys to sue Mr. Brookhart for libel and damages in this amount—the real compensation being in getting Mr. Brookhart on record under oath."

"The public will now have an opportunity to see how nearly he can come to proving even one of his many mouthings."

"It is futile to argue with a man who is so careless with his statements as Senator Brookhart," Mr. Meredith continued, recalling that the senator had declared the slump in agricultural prices had cost the farmers of the country thirty-two billion dollars, or eight billions more than the whole cost of the war.

"The issue between Brookhart and myself was whether the American farmers' financial condition is worse this year than last, as Brookhart charges. I pointed out in a recent statement that the grain farmer would receive five hundred dollars more for his grain this year than last year, in spite of the slump in the price of wheat. I note that he admits this in his last outburst."

"Since my statement was given out, the department of agriculture has announced the agricultural price index figures as of Aug. 1. This index figure includes all the principal farm products and shows that the American farmer was 15 1/2 per cent better off on Aug. 1 than he was a year ago, and that $17,000,000 of that principal sum, 25.2 per cent better off than two years ago on Aug. 1.

"The war finance corporation re-ready repaid eleven-twelfths of the Brookhart declared Mr. Meredith, as secretary of agriculture, was aware that the farmers were to be "deflated," that he was in a position to money they borrowed.

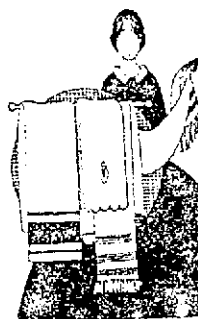

"Can Brookhart convince anyone, in the face of these facts, that the farmer is ruined, when he has received like this?"

In his Radcliffe address, Senator and not light.

Sailboat Crosses Pacific in 11 Days, Smashing Record That Stood 17 Years

By N. E. A. Service
HONOLULU, Aug. 20.—Crossing the Pacific in a sailboat in 11 days, 15 hours and 17 minutes, it must be admitted. But three intrepid yachtsmen from San Francisco have just accomplished it. When the sturdy schooner Mariner shot across the finish line off Diamond Head, a record of 17 years standing went by the boards.

The Mariner had won the greatest of yachting classes—the Trans-Pacific race. Its actual time from Santa Barbara, Calif., here was just 11 days, 12 hours and 17 minutes.

The old mark, set in 1906 by the Janet, was 12 days, 7 hours and 33 minutes.

In command of the Mariner was Captain L. A. Norris, an engineer by profession—a yachtsman by inclination. He owns still another speedy craft, the Shawnee. Both his boats are registered at the San Francisco Yacht club.

With the skipper were James Wyatt, youthful sailor, and Francis B. "Drydock" Smith, veteran of many a stiff tack.

The Mariner is of the Gloucester type. She was built at Essex, Mass., but a year ago. She is 100 feet long over all, with a sail spread of 5000 square feet.

Two of the three prizes offered in the race went to her.

Beautiful Shopgirl Does Movie Cinderella Act

MARGARET LEAHY

BY JACK JUNGMEYER
HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—Hollywood, looking its cue of romance, put the "reverse English" on Margaret Leahy when it sent her back to London after a single appearance in pictures here.

Many a maid entering movies under as favorable auspices as this British beauty contest winner is quickly carried off at an oblique angle to former obscurity.

Miss Leahy, who made her celluloid debut in Buster Keaton's "Three Ages," not only returned triumphant to the city of her recent shopgirl estate, but soon to be featured in English productions, will rebound to our shores, via the film, as a competitor of Hollywood's stock beauties.

Less than a year ago Norma Talma, then abroad, elected to bring back with her for a role in a Joseph M. Schenck production the attractive unknown dressmaker's employee, who had gained brief contest glory. Today she is reported the idol of London, enjoying royal patronage and facing a career which, thanks to movie magic, presents no caste obstacles in the society light little life.

Here is a real Cinderella adventure. When Miss Talma found her way to the contemplated role in "Within the Law," she was fitted into Keaton's "Three Ages" as his leading lady. She has voluptuous beauty in the blue-eyed blond scale. But many more beautiful girls, and many more talented actresses have been bewitched by Hollywood in vain. However, Miss Leahy, completely unchooled to the screen, made the most of her opportunity.

Paul, where act them? For three weeks (Miss Leahy) has been advertising in "Chicago" papers for "this handsome, refined, curly-headed young Englishman" she saw at Dearborn station on her way to Hollywood. She wants him to play "Paul" in the film version of her "Three Weeks." Can it be that "the handsome young Englishman" didn't read the book?

At noon dinner was partaken of in real camp fashion beneath the pines in the rear of the building. An hour's recreation followed the meal, after which the field was cleared for a fine schedule of athletic events which were run off perfectly.

The winners in the various events were awarded prizes that had been previously solicited by the committee in charge from friends of the organization.

Supper was then observed, after which the return to this city was made, the party arriving shortly after 8 o'clock. Harold Sullivan was in direct charge of all arrangements.

BOYS MAY HAVE SET LAWRENCE BLAZE

LAWRENCE, Aug. 20.—Following an all-day investigation of the spectacular conflagration which Saturday afternoon razed the large wooden warehouse on B and M court here, owned by the Boston and Maine railroad, and resulted also in the practical demolition of several other wooden structures, Chief Frank J. Morris of the local fire department announced last night that while some slight clues had been gathered, it is impossible as yet definitely to say just what had caused the fire.

The investigators are working on the theory that the blaze may have resulted from any one of three causes, namely a spark from a passing locomotive, a fire in the warehouse, or from having been set by mischievous boys.

The chief says that he has secured the name of a man who saw some small boys run from the vicinity of the warehouse just before the alarm sounded, and heard one of the boys cry, "Time the alarm," while another answered, "I didn't set the fire." This man was out of town yesterday, but he will be summoned to fire headquarters today and questioned.

ENGINE MADE QUICK TRIP TO LAWRENCE

The fire fighting force of Engine 7 of this city made a flying trip to Lawrence in about 10 minutes Saturday afternoon in answer to a call for help to assist the Lawrence fire department battle a $150,000 blaze in the vicinity of the Boston & Maine depot.

A general alarm was sounded, summoning every available piece of apparatus in Lawrence, and because of the seriousness of the blaze help was asked from out-of-town forces. Engine 7's men and apparatus was sent to the Central fire station, there to answer any other alarms.

The fire broke out in the warehouse of the Continental Products Co., a building two stories high and 150x30 feet. This was completely destroyed, as were also two freight cars and two barns. The depot and these structures were threatened by the flames, and the audiences in the theaters were dismissed, but the flames prevented the fire from reaching there.

AUTO CLIMBS TREE, LEAPS TO ANOTHER

VINEYARD HAVEN, Aug. 20.—One of the queerest of motor accidents took place on the state highway, West Taunton, when a small car of the bug type struck an oak tree, bent it to an angle of 45 degrees, climbed up the entire height of the tree and made a perfect catapult curve landing in the middle of another tree 20 feet away. A branch of this tree turned the car over and it fell to the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Richards, who were in the car, with spilled into the underbrush, but were not seriously hurt. The police could hardly credit the story of what happened, but the scraped bark and bent tree were mute witnesses.

PRE-WEDDING RECEPTION

The home of the Misses Gladys and Helen Regan was the scene of a very pleasant gathering Friday evening when over 50 friends of Miss Lillian Taylor gathered to give her a royal send-off in honor of her forthcoming marriage to Mr. William A. Holt. On entering she was greeted with a shower of rose petals and shouts of "shower" seated beneath a bell of confetti she opened her various gifts, one of the features of the evening was a mock marriage in which Miss Catherine Abraham acted as bride, Miss Catherine Teller as groom, Miss Helen Regan as bridesmaid and Miss Helen

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 6

"Looking for adventure," roared the captain. "Well, you'll get all the adventure you want on board this ship. Just obey my orders and you'll have no trouble." Then the captain led Jack to another room and handed him a sailor suit. "Put this on," he said, "and be my cabin-boy."

As soon as the captain had left Jack hurried out of his own clothes and into the cabin-boy suit. It fitted him very nicely and Jack was proud of it. Then he stepped out on the deck and saw a commotion at the bow of the boat. Jack liked excitement, so he hurried in that direction.

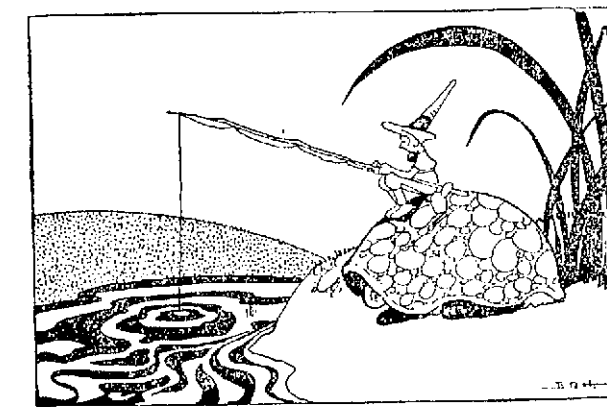

Just as the young adventurer reached the crowd of sailors that had gathered he heard a low howl. Instantly Jack knew that it was Flip. And, breaking his way through the men, he saw that they had started a fight between Flip and another dog on board ship. (Continued.)

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

DINKY DOODLE GOES FISHING

"HERE'S THE VERY PLACE I'M LOOKING FOR," SAID DINKY DOODLE.

"Hi lee, hi lo, hi lee, hi lo," sang little Dinky Doodle, the Pee Wee boy. "I'm going fishing for to catch a whale. He went along singing that way over his shoulder and his little can full of fly bugs for bait to catch a whale. He really wasn't going to catch a whale or even try to catch one. What he was after was minnows, and little ones at that, for the little Pee Wee boy wasn't much bigger than a cherry seed himself. After a while he came to a dandy place. It was a place where the creek made a nice little shallow pool with sunlight all over it where you could see and tiny little fishes were wriggling their tails and chasing each other and playing tag. "Here's the very place I'm looking for," said Dinky Doodle, unslinging his tin can from his shoulder and baiting his fly rod and tiny line with his bait. "Here's a nice round stone to sit on and everything!" So he climbed up on the big stone—right on top—and threw his line in the water and—

What do you think then? He went fast asleep. Pretty soon the stone stuck out a foot on one side, then another foot. Then it stuck out a head in front. Then it began to move. For it wasn't a stone at all but a turtle.
